10. Data Security and Privacy

10.1 Security Schedule

Temenos shall maintain reasonable administrative, physical, and technical safeguards designed to protect the security, confidentiality, and integrity of any Client Data in Temenos Environments and to address any Security Incident, as further specified in the Security Schedule.

10.2 Security Incidents

In the event of a Security Incident of which Temenos becomes aware, Temenos shall:

- (a) promptly notify the Client of the Security Incident by telephone, email or the Client Portal, provided that such notification is not an acknowledgement by Temenos of any fault or liability;
- (b) investigate the Security Incident and provide the Client with detailed information about the Security Incident; and
- (c) take reasonable steps to mitigate the effects and minimize damage resulting from the Security Incident.

10.3 Non-Disclosure of Client's Personal Data

The Client may disclose Personal Data to Temenos:

- (a) through submission of Client Data to the Cloud Services; and
- (b) in connection with Support Services, provided, in each case, such disclosure is in accordance with the Security Schedule and Documentation and complies with the Client's internal security policies.

10.4 Client Security Testing

No more than once per year, upon thirty (30) days' written notice to Temenos and at the Client's sole expense, the Client or an independent third party nominated by the Client may test and evaluate the security of the Cloud Services, including by performing any security testing reasonably required by the Client. The security testing shall be subject to Temenos' reasonable security and confidentiality requirements, including those regarding Temenos' Environments, Confidential Information, Intellectual Property Rights, legal privileges, and confidentiality obligations owed to third parties. Temenos may refuse to permit any security testing that may adversely affect any other clients of Temenos or may constitute an unauthorized access of any computer system or may be otherwise unlawful. The cost of Temenos' resources to support the security testing shall be borne by the Client.

10.5 Client Security Obligations

Temenos and its Affiliates, licensors and suppliers will not be liable under the Agreement and Temenos will not be in breach of the Agreement to the extent that any liability, breach, or Security Incident arises from any of the following matters:

- (a) Client, any Client Affiliate or User improperly or unlawfully Processing Client Data or causing Temenos to improperly or unlawfully process Client Data;
- (b) the Client, any Client Affiliate or User failing to comply with applicable laws (including applicable data protection laws); or
- (c) the Client failing to implement or comply with appropriate information security practices, systems, policies and controls, including relating to its use of the Cloud Services.

11. Changes and Additional Services

11.1 Temenos may provide additional terms or update the terms of the Agreement in the following circumstances:

- (a) Temenos introduces new features or functionality to the Cloud Services and the associated management services including changes to the technical safeguards designed to protect the Client Data;

(b) a Hosting Provider changes; or

(c) Temenos, its Affiliates or a Hosting Provider becomes subject to government regulation, obligations or requirements, collectively, (the “Amendment”), provided always that such Amendments shall not materially reduce the scope or the functionality of the Cloud Services or the level of protection applicable to the Client Data and that the Client is provided with at least one hundred and eighty (180) days’ written notice for Hosting Provider changes and at least sixty (60) days’ written notice for any other Amendment.

11.2 In addition, Temenos may, upon providing Client with at least sixty (60) days’ notice, terminate the provision of the Cloud Services where a current or future government requirement or regulation subjects Temenos or a Hosting Provider to any regulation or requirement not generally applicable to the type of Cloud Services provided to the Client or businesses operating in the relevant jurisdiction, presents a hardship for Temenos or causes Temenos to believe the Agreement is in conflict with such requirement or regulation. For example, if the Hosting Provider becomes or is anticipated to become regulated as a telecommunications provider.

11.3 Where the Client wishes to purchase additional Cloud Services or to change or supplement Cloud Services purchased under an existing Order Form, the Parties shall enter into a new Order Form.

12. Early Termination of Cloud Services or Support Services

12.1 If an Agreement for Cloud Services and/or Support Services is terminated (in whole or in part) prior to the expiry of the Term: (i) by the Client for any reason other than due to material breach by Temenos; or (ii) by Temenos due to a material breach or non-compliance by the Client, non-payment of Fees or insolvency, all Fees due until the end of the Term (under the Agreement if the Agreement is terminated in whole or for the applicable terminated services if the Agreement is terminated in part (as the case may be)) shall be paid in full to Temenos by way of early termination fee and not penalty. Such payment shall not prohibit Temenos from claiming any other damages, costs, expenses or losses resulting from such early termination of the Agreement.

12.2 The Client expressly acknowledges and accepts that the early termination fee described in Section 12.1 is fully justified considering the importance for both Parties of the duration commitment agreed in the Order Form and the significant amounts invested by Temenos in order to be able to perform the Agreement, that it represents a fair estimate of the loss that would be suffered by Temenos as a result of an early termination by the Client and its purpose is to protect Temenos’ legitimate commercial interests, which include, without limitation:

(a) that Temenos provided the discounts set out in the Order Form in return for the Client’s commitment to procure the Cloud Services and/or Support Services for the Subscription Term, and that if the Client had committed to a shorter term(s), then Temenos would not have provided these discounts;

(b) the recovery of Temenos’ costs to provide the Cloud Services and/or Support Services, including fixed costs and overheads, third party supplier costs and other costs incurred by Temenos to establish the services and enter into and manage the Agreement (such as sales, marketing and legal costs), that are amortized over the Subscription Term (as applicable) and would have been recovered by Temenos through the Fees;

(c) Temenos’ interest in being able to efficiently operate its business and enter into commercial arrangements with its third party suppliers. Temenos organizes its business and such commercial arrangements around the expectation that its clients will meet their Subscription Term commitments; and

(d) the recovery of costs incurred by Temenos as a result of the early termination.

Sections 11.1 and 11.3 of the Enterprise Terms do not apply to Section 12.1 and therefore do not exclude the Client’s obligation to pay the early termination fee. Nothing in the Agreement shall be construed as to limit the liability of the Client for payment of the early termination fee described in Section 12.1.

13. Post-Termination Access to Data

Temenos will make available to the Client for download a file of the Client Data in text format along with attachments in their native format for a period of up to sixty (60) days after the effective date of termination. Unless agreed otherwise in writing, Temenos shall have no obligation to maintain or provide any of the Client Data after such sixty (60) day period and may, unless legally prohibited from doing so, delete all Client Data in its systems (or otherwise in its possession or under its control).

This Schedule requires signature by both Parties if it is not incorporated into the Enterprise Terms at the time of signature by the Parties of the Enterprise Terms and shall become effective upon the latest date of signature.
