Customer-centric core banking

Temenos Core for Retail Banking enables banks and financial institutions with a customer-centric core banking solution to deliver value to their retail customers across the entire lifecycle, from onboarding to servicing. A capable product factory provides support across all product lines, and is supported by an extensive set of embedded analytics which helps to give immediate customer insight and also vital support when designing new products or looking at financial and operational performance in context.

Temenos further helps banks to bring new products to market quickly by supplying a standardized set of country model bank functionality which provided pre-built capability around regulatory requirements, market practices, local clearing, tax, and common interfaces, and other areas on a country by country basis.
